

H-F Reads 2009-2010
School Days Then & Now

In honor of Homewood-Flossmoor High School's 50th Anniversary, H-F Reads has chosen school-related stories for this year's selections.

Third Quarter Selection

The Last Lecture
by Randy Pausch

After being diagnosed with terminal cancer, Randy Pausch, a computer science professor at Carnegie Mellon, gave his last lecture. But the lecture he gave--"Really Achieving Your Childhood Dreams"--wasn't about dying. It was about the importance of overcoming obstacles, of enabling the dreams of others, of seizing every moment (because "time is all you have...and you may find one day that you have less than you think"). It was a summation of everything Randy had come to believe. It was about living.

Homewood-Flossmoor High School Library
Creating a Culture of Reading

H-F Reads 2009-2010
School Days Then & Now

In honor of Homewood-Flossmoor High School's 50th Anniversary, H-F Reads has chosen school-related stories for this year's selections.

Third Quarter Selection

The Last Lecture
by Randy Pausch

After being diagnosed with terminal cancer, Randy Pausch, a computer science professor at Carnegie Mellon, gave his last lecture. But the lecture he gave--"Really Achieving Your Childhood Dreams"--wasn't about dying. It was about the importance of overcoming obstacles, of enabling the dreams of others, of seizing every moment (because "time is all you have...and you may find one day that you have less than you think"). It was a summation of everything Randy had come to believe. It was about living.

Homewood-Flossmoor High School Library
Creating a Culture of Reading

H-F Reads 2009-2010
School Days Then & Now

In honor of Homewood-Flossmoor High School's 50th Anniversary, H-F Reads has chosen school-related stories for this year's selections.

Third Quarter Selection

The Last Lecture
by Randy Pausch

After being diagnosed with terminal cancer, Randy Pausch, a computer science professor at Carnegie Mellon, gave his last lecture. But the lecture he gave--"Really Achieving Your Childhood Dreams"--wasn't about dying. It was about the importance of overcoming obstacles, of enabling the dreams of others, of seizing every moment (because "time is all you have...and you may find one day that you have less than you think"). It was a summation of everything Randy had come to believe. It was about living.

Homewood-Flossmoor High School Library
Creating a Culture of Reading